FAREWELL TO SENIORS

We leave these halls of learning.
Go, men among men—ambition burning.
Some shall return—some gone forever,
But the memory of you shall leave our hearts never.
Some will bring fame in their humble way.
Some will progress—others will stay.
People shall know of what you have done—
How well you have lost, how fairly you've won.
Make your goals high, your ways straight and true.
Memories live on when people are through.

DEDICATION

This year, 1945, finds many of the graduates of M. H. S. fighting in every corner of the world. To these M. H. S.'s contribution to Uncle Sam's Armed forces, we proudly dedicate this annual.

Just an annual is not enough, however. The headaches involved in constructing "The Spider Web" are nothing compared to the physical and mental anguish, our fighting men are going through to preserve freedom. To them we should dedicate our hearts, our minds, and our very souls.

May this "Spider Web" remind you of happy days in a public school, something which personifies the American way of life.

Best of luck

INTRODUCING MAC

Students of Macomb High School meet "Mac". I'm sure you will all be happy to meet him because he's the "keeper" of the Spider Web. He is at home in every hall and room of good old M. H. S., but don't be alarmed. He's a good little spider. He goes with his best friend "School Spirit" to every game and cheers the best he knows how. He watches our dances and parties with a twinkling glee. He is everywhere where there is fun and high school students. We have chosen him to point out the highlights of '45 in this Spider Web. Take it from here, Mac—

BOARD OF EDUCATION

E. S. Slusher	President
J. Otha Toland	Will Lady
Neil Chandler	Geo. Needham
Arthur Fleshman	Delmar Jewison
Truston Stewart	Harold Sullivan

To Macomb High Seniors of 1945:

Personality has been described as the sum totals of all the habits and skills which you have acquired. We sincerely hope that the habits and skills which you have learned at Macomb High will enable you to be of real service to your fellowmen. Recognize your faults and overcome them. People who are unable to recognize their shortcomings or their bad habits never develop good personalities. Substitute good habits for bad ones and you will develop charm and a pleasing personality.

P. F. SHAFER
Sup't. of Public Schools

One of the most obvious facts of life is that change is certain and inevitable. Your school is endeavoring to make you conscious of this and equip you with the means to meet these changes and adjust yourselves to them. In attempting to do this it is evident that you will meet diverse situations, and it is recognized that you will not all make the same choices or follow similar means of livelihood when you leave school. For this reason we have provided some basic, required subjects in the hope that they will lead toward good citizenship. In addition, other subjects are offered from which you are encouraged to make a choice in the hope that they will aid you in becoming better fitted to occupy a definite place in the world's work and life. Various activities have also been offered to enable you further to enrich your experiences. With these it is our hope that you will emerge as well rounded individuals, better able to cope with the many problems which a changing world will present.

A. C. DRUMMOND
Principal of Macomb High

Alexander, Robert Thomas—Dreams of quail hunting in the Ozarks. Likes all kinds of hunting and fishing, and most other sports. Teaches mathematics and is assistant coach. Received his advanced education at Western Illinois State Teachers College and Missouri University.

Black, Minnie—The ideal place to spend leisure moments is in a flower garden according to Miss Black. Her flowers are her hobby. Miss Black is the efficient secretary to Macomb High's superintendent. She is a graduate of Macomb High School, and attended Meyers Business College, Bryant-Stratton Business College in Chicago, and did further work at Eureka College, Eureka, Illinois.

Bone, Merrill—Interested in photography. Is easily disgusted when students don't study their lessons. Physics and Chemistry instructor. Received his B. A. in Chemistry from Carthage College—taught at Knoxville, Illinois.

Bradshaw, Elsie—Singing advertisements irritate her. She's a collector of miniatures, likes photography and cartoons. Received her A. B. at Adrian College; B. E. at Western Illinois State Teachers College, and her M. A. at the University of Michigan. She teaches Biology.

Britt, Demontes—Has a strange dislike for whispering students. She never misses a basketball game, because she likes them. She received her B. E. at Western Illinois State Teachers College and has done graduate work at Gregg College and Colorado State College. Sponsors Senior Sub-Deb, and teaches commerce.

Campbell, Ruth S.—Has traveled extensively in Europe. After the war she wants to travel. Has plans all made for a trip to Canada, down the West coast, and into Mexico. Likes to read. Teaches mathematics. Graduated from the University of Chicago, and received her M. A. from University of Illinois.

Churchill, Edith—Spends all her spare time sewing, and she enjoys it. Reading is second on her hobby list. Her pet dislike is people who chew gum in class. She's the commercial teacher. Received her B. E. at Western Illinois State Teachers College and her M. S. at Colorado State College. She has done work at the University of Iowa.

Finnell, Anne—Enjoys food and cooking it, and can she cook! Is happy when students remember their book reports. Received her B. S. at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, and has done graduate work at Missouri University. Sponsors the Spider Web and teaches English.

Goff, Howard—Enjoys camping. Any kind of a "noisy" radio advertisement doesn't register with him. He's the director of the M. H. S. Band and he received his B. M. and M. M. at Illinois Wesleyan University.

Graham, Burdette—Noted for his "singing" and guitar "strumming." Received his B. Ed from Western Illinois State Teachers College and his M. Ed from Missouri University. Teaches Vocational Agriculture and sponsors F. F. A.

Jack Hoyle

Hoyle, Orville—Likes to spend all his spare time hunting and fishing. He received his B. E. from Western Illinois State Teachers College and has done further study at University of Indiana, and Chicago University. Teaches Fundamentals of Machines and is Dean of Men.

Hungerford, Helen M.—There's nothing she enjoys more than baking cookies, and nothing she enjoys less than sleepy and yawning students. Received her B. E. at Western Illinois State Teachers College and has studied at Bradley Institute and University of Iowa. She is a Social Science instructor.

Matthew Jack

Jack, Mathew—He says he'd make an ideal tramp because he likes to travel. His favorite trip is to the mountains in the west; especially Colorado. Dislikes the East, because it's too crowded. Teaches Manual Arts. Received his B. S. from Stout Institute, graduated from Illinois State Normal and Bradley Polytechnic Institute.

Morris, Vera Gene—The first few minutes of each of her classes are devoted to the serious business of students depositing their gum in the waste basket. Collects antiques. Teaches English and sponsors Junior Sub-Deb. Received her Ph. B. at University of Chicago and her M. A. at the University of Colorado.

Patrick, Doris—Has a strong dislike for people who think they're cute. Likes to sew and does it often. She teaches English, sponsors Thespian Club, contest work, and directs the Junior and Senior class plays. Received her B. A. at University of Iowa, and her M. A. at Northwestern.

Shultz, Esther—Spends much of her time in keeping the library. Received her B. S. degree at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College and has done graduate work at Colorado and Iowa Universities. Teaches Social Science.

Miss Neva Scoog—Gets very disgusted when there is no mail in the evening after school. Un-necessary noises annoy her. Her pet expression is "That's Tough." Graduated from University of Illinois, where she received her B. S. degree. Teaches Home Economics and sponsors The Home Economics Club.

Smith, Marian—Collects poetry and enjoys sports. Received her B. A. at Monmouth College, and majored in physical education at Illinois University. This past summer she took courses toward her M. A. at the University of Illinois. She teaches Spanish, Latin, and Physical Education.

Vance, Dave—Interested in sports, and why shouldn't he be? Has turned out some swell athletes. Received his Bachelor's Degree from Indiana Central College. Teaches all of the boys' Physical Education and coaches all sports.

Waggoner, Louise—Her hobby is her Buick, and her pet peeve, is people who whisper when she tries to talk. Teaches English and is Dean of Women. Received her B. L. Degree at Northwestern and her M. A. at the University of Michigan and has done graduate work at University of Wisconsin.

Holden, Winifred G.—Registered Nurse. Received her training at St. Francis Hospital in Macomb and St. Joseph Hospital in Chicago. Went to Public Health School at the University of Michigan. Staff nurse of McDonough County Health Department.

Miller Grace—Public Relations officer. Attended Western Illinois State Teachers College for three years. Taught at Kewanee and a McDonough County rural school.

KNIGHTS OF THE BROOM

The Knights of the Broom—These are three mighty important men at M. H. S. Without their presence, things would be decidedly inconvenient. Cleanliness and tidiness would be forgotten and when the thermometer starts falling, everyone would be unhappy. These men of M. H. S. are "Pete" Larnier, knight of the upper floor; "Charley" Hainline, knight of the lower floor, and Mr. Westerhold, knight of the furnace. Thank you, Mr. Hainline, Mr. Larnier, and Mr. Westerhold. We appreciate the comfort.

MEMORIES OF MACOMB HIGH

Soon we'll be leaving; soon we'll say good-bye,
 To all our fondest memories of Macomb High.
 Four swell years have we spent,
 And few of us are sorry that we went.
 Out into the world, our goal to possess,
 Go, we the Seniors of '45, each hoping for success;
 We're leaving lots behind us, true to say,
 But we'll always cherish memories of each yesterday.
 There will be many in our number, we know.
 Who will be training and fighting for the country we love so.
 To all of those, and to all of the rest—
 "We'll be seeing you soon, when with victory we're blest."
 So to each and to all, "Good Luck and Adieu,
 And to Macomb High, the best kind of a toast."

Dorothy Huston

HISTORY of THE CLASS OF 1945

In the fall of 1941 a class of 102 entered Macomb High School and diminished during the four years to a graduating class of 58.

The Junior Class officers were President, Don Sturm; Vice-President, Carol Harland; Secretary, Norma Sowers; Treasurer, Betty Haulk.

"The Bashful Bachelor," was a great hit for the Junior Class play. Many of the class played roles in this farce comedy.

The Junior and Senior Prom was the outstanding event of the year. The Juniors decorated the ball room which was beautiful with its wishing well and corresponding decorations. There were lovely formals, dreamy music and soft lights. It was a scene which shall never be forgotten.

The Senior Class officers were: President, Dick White; Vice-President, Jim Hare; Secretary, Jean Perkins; Treasurer, Betty Ellsworth.

At the Homecoming Dance, Betty Haulk and Dwayne Dorethy were crowned king and queen.

Jean Perkins and Jim Hare reigned at the Valentine Dance.

"The Senior Class play, 'And Came The Spring' was one of the best ever presented on the Macomb High stage", someone has said.

The prom was again beautiful, but it meant farewell to the good old days at M. H. S.

The Baccalaureate made us all feel like crying. What were we to do next?

The Commencement struck a sad note when we realized our farewell was being said. Many of the boys were not graduating with us since they were serving their country.

Stevenson expresses our deep sentiments when he said:

"Time was," the golden head Irrevocably said;
But time which none can bind
While flowing fast, away, leaves love behind."

OUR RENAISSANCE

Our days together now are o'er,
Our paths may part, we scarce know where;
But there still are days and years ahead
With joys and sorrows, hopes and fears.
As trains that leave the union house,
Side by side they race along,
Side by side our paths may go
Until we part to our definite goals.
Life is a ceaseless march to a shining goal,
Where ways may be smooth and days so fine,
Or fear and sorrow and doubt may smirk
To change our purpose and hinder our work.
But where others conquer, we can win;
What they have done, we too, can do;
The paths they trod, we too can tread
With our trust as strong and faith as true.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the organization through which the students have some voice in the conduct of the school affairs. The Council consists of four Seniors, three Juniors, three Sophomore members, and two Freshmen members.

This year the organization has sponsored an honor study hall, sale of school pennants and pins, collection of waste paper, the sale of war bonds, an assembly by Elzie Bown, the mental wizard, and the National Clothing Drive.

Officers: President, Betty Haulk; Vice-President, Doris Louderman; Secretary and Treasurer, Kathleen Bainter; Sponsor, A. C. Drummond.

The purpose of the band is to give students the pleasure of musical expression through the medium of wind instruments in co-operative groups. It assists at basketball and football games by playing marches and the loyalty song which was composed by a member of the band, Bob Bankert. The band, under the direction of its new leader, Mr. Goff, has a total membership of one hundred nine, including junior high and grade school members. However, it is divided into two bands, so that the junior high has its own organization. The Band-Parents Association stimulate morale by sponsoring concerts, which are generously financed by the merchants, pot luck suppers, and by giving tickets to the swimming pool and the theater. The officers are: President, Lorene Hainline; Vice-President, Raymond Schneider; Secretary and Treasurer, Dick Stone.

OUR FAREWELL

We hate to go, now that we know
Our time is almost o'er. we've gone these four years
In days so fast we had forgotten they couldn't last.

We've studied and worked; we've laughed and played;
We've had our trials, too. and, now, to you
We leave all this hoping you'll continue through.

We say, "Farewell to thee our dear old Macomb High School.
We hate to go, we've loved you so.
But we leave to others the prayer, that they will love thee, too."

MISS 1945

JOAN MASON was chosen by the students to represent the Senior girls as MISS 1945. She received this honor because, as her many friends will agree she is a really grand girl.

Her air, her manners, all who saw admired.
Courteous, though coy, and gentle, though retired;
The joy of youth and health her eyes display'd,
And ease of heart-her every look convey'd.

ON TAKING CARE OF CHILDREN

There are two things which are absolutely horrible—carrots and taking care of children. A few weeks ago I was telephoned by an old friend of mother's who was planning to go to a big birthday party, and she simply couldn't find anyone to stay with her little off-spring. Naturally, Mother accepted for me to take care of the child for what she said would be "Only this one night."

Now, I am a peaceable person, but to have my plans interrupted by another person who has already made plans for me, infuriates me to no end. It so happened that night that I had planned to go to a party myself, but since it would be for "only this one evening", I gave up my plans and went over to Mother's friend's house, resigned to the fact that I would act as humane as possible to the child.

As I well have learned by now, there are two types of children: the type that sits around and bawls the whole evening, refusing to go to sleep because his "Mommy" and "Dadda" have gone off and left him for five whole hours and didn't take him along with them; then the second type is the "Junior"—the-mean-widdle-tidd" type; who, after you've chased him all over the house trying to catch him long enough to get him into his pajamas, he miraculously squeezes into a one foot opening between the bed and the side wall, refusing to come out and lies there and yells, "Tome an' det me." He very well knows that you could no more get into that crevice to get him, than you could kill an elephant with a rubber band and a paper wad, but still he sits under the bed, and you sit beside the bed and silently swear that if you ever get your hands on him——but finally he comes out and everything runs smoothly for the next twelve and one-half seconds.

Well, it so happened that the child I was caring for that night was one of the latter mentioned species, and after the above process, I finally got his pajamas on him and in bed and it was then that he yelled, at the top of his lungs (and I'm sure anyone six blocks away could have heard him without even having to raise his ear-muffs.)

"Gimme a dwink o' water."

This goes on until all hours of the night. First it's a "dwink," then a cookie, then "I'm cold" or "I'm scared, I want my Mommy." They also ask you about sixty times, "Where's Mommy 'n Dadda?"

But finally the angel-child goes to sleep—from sheer exhaustion, and as far as making "child sitting" my career, no thanks, I'd just as soon mine coal in a coal mine—it's not so strenuous.

THE ART OF STUDYING

One of the hardest things in the world is making up your mind to study. The actual studying or homework itself is nothing. You see, our friend, whom we will use to illustrate the various phases, and whom we shall christen Nemo (coming from the Latin, meaning no one) has a huge accumulation of homework which he should have done a long time ago, but somehow never got around to doing.

Some teachers are inclined to be too lenient you know, and sometimes get careless about doing their full share of nagging, thereby letting the poor spineless student get behind in his work. For approximately two days at the least, Nemo thinks about the delinquent homework, and discusses it seriously with his friends while wasting two precious hours in the local "Coke Palace" where "the elite meet to eat." He goes through mental gymnastics, his vivid imagination conjuring the horrors that will befall him if he does not do the hated task.

Before my dear readers get the impression that Nemo has a small theme to write or an exercise in chemistry to do or some trifle like that, let me set you right. He has enormous things to do. He is a couple of weeks behind in typing, has not kept his geometry notebook up to date, is behind in Spanish, and in general, has been loafing for the past two weeks. The end of the six weeks is breathing down his neck, and the time has come for action.

The next evening Nemo takes home numerous texts and notebooks. However, an essential movie happens to be playing that evening, and none of the books are moved from the place where they were tossed when Nemo entered the front door. Nemo can't work in study hall either. The new "Life" happens to come in, and an interesting new personage is seated next to him with whom he has to better relations, and to be brief, Nemo is still behind. It is two days before the end of the six weeks. Nemo takes home work and studies like a person possessed. It is this crisis and this alone that can make our little Nemo study.

Let this grueling story be a lesson to you. Take heed and always keep your work caught up. Studying is merely a frame of mind you must put yourself into. Once the spirit moves you to do homework, you will never become lax about assignments because once you taste the sweet bliss of a mind at ease, free from care, you will never return to former methods.

This is all good advice, but as I write this, I know in my heart it will all be in vain. Students all over the universe will still wait till the last minute, never realizing the harm they are doing, for this vice which they indulge in their youth will affect them the rest of their lives.

ON GETTING A SUN TAN

There is nothing so wonderful as the coming of summer heralded by the glorious beaming of the sun. All through the dreary overcast winter days one impatiently awaits the time when the sun will shake off his dreary cloak and beam joyously forth in all his warming splendor. It is then that we too shake off our heavy winter wraps and venture forth into the pleasant, warm out-of-doors. Most people are so entranced by this unexpected warmth and light that they walk out in very scanty clothing. Furthermore, they remain out in this brilliant atmosphere for many hours at a time.

Upon the opening of the swimming pool throngs of people accommodate its depths, greedily soaking up the warm rays of the sun. Old King Sol, however, is not the man to give without limit of his precious beams. When people continue to absorb them into their skin day by day, they suddenly discover that there is compensation in everything. When home in bed at night in complete darkness, they still feel the warmth of the sun's rays only to a much greater intensity. The bridge of the nose feels as if it had at least a dozen blisters on it—and probably it does. The skin on all the burnt portions feels very stiff and sore. All kinds of linaments and ointments have been tried with which to heal a sun burn. Perhaps the most prominent ones are vinegar, olive oil, and a diluted sugar solution. All of which are extremely sticky and unpleasant to use.

Now understand that all people are not so foolish as to allow themselves to be burned, and it seems that this essay is on getting a sun tan. The only trouble is that I have never gotten a sun tan without getting a sun burn first. I suppose that there are some people who never get burned and tan very smoothly and beautifully. One method of getting such a sun tan would be preparing beforehand by taking a large beach umbrella to the sea shore the next time you go. The first day you could lay under the shade of this umbrella with only your legs extending beyond the dark line of shadow on the sand. Then the next day your arms, and the next your back, and so on until you become completely tanned in the smooth even brown that you have desired. The only trouble with this plan is that it would be rather embarrassing going around with half of you brown and the other half white.

Such are the difficulties involved in getting a sun tan. As for me, I believe that it would be terribly dull sitting around with a cool brown color while everyone else was groaning and bragging about their beautiful red coloring.

NOSES

Noses! Did you ever stop to think where a word like nose could have originated? It has been handed down from time to time until no one is sure where this familiar word started. Centuries ago our ancestors called it nose, nos, ness, or nasus. Since then it has changed into quite different forms, but all these words still come out meaning—nose. But what is a nose? As Webster states it, a nose is the organ of smell and scent, the part of the face where the nostrils are located. But a few people have defined it as the part that always catches a cold.

The nose is a very important feature of the human face. In fact it is the most important feature. Did you ever imagine yourself without a nose? Our handsome double-rugged males would be known as the "Freaks of Araby" and our "Varga Girls" would soon be called "Gargoyles." And without our noses we could not smell those fragrant odors which creep through the halls after our ingenious chemistry students invent the latest gas bomb.

The nose is usually considered a very useful organ, but there are still a few people who disagree on that subject—those who frequently have colds. It is quite a difficult situation when you find your nose continually dripping, and, as usual, you are without a Kleenex. In such a case, it would be very handy if we could just twist our noses upside down, but then something might happen to our twister and our noses would be turning round and round, or maybe get stuck at some odd position and that would be worse than no nose at all!

The style of noses is much like fashions—they are forever changing. The people of long ago had very different ideas about a beautiful nose than we do today. But everyone, big or small, old or young, will agree that without a nose we would, indeed, be handicapped, for what would we stick into other peoples business?

BOMBERS GO!

FOOT BALL

The Bomber squad of 1944 was strengthened by the return of eight lettermen from the team of 1943. Practice opened the last of August with thirty-six men answering Coach Vance's call for material.

Macomb started the season by winning an important victory over Carthage. The Bombers fast moving backfield and charging line emerged with a 19-6 win.

The conference opener against Beardstown was cancelled because of a heavy rain.

The next weekend the Bombers met a highly rated Jacksonville eleven. Crippled by four injuries in the starting lineup, Macomb was turned back 20-6.

Opposing Monmouth in her Homecoming game, Macomb brought the score to a 6-6 tie. Farr, and Hoke both received serious injuries in the game and as a result, Farr's services were lost to the team the rest of the season.

Entertaining Rushville in their first home game, the Bombers were out-classed 25-6. Havana was an easy opponent for the squad and were easily defeated 40-0. The Bombers Homecoming was a perfect success with the defeat of Farmington 26-6. The season closed November 2nd with a decisive victory over Bushnell 12-0.

Macomb stood second in the final Spoon River Conference rating and three linemen, Miller, Dorethy, and Hoke received a berth on the All-Conference squad. Miller was also given honorable mention on the all-state team.

The Bombers expect a strong squad next year as they will lose only six lettermen.

BASKET BALL

Macomb High played one of her best seasons of basketball this year. Since the squad was composed of lower classmen, Coach Vance is hoping for an even better season next year with the same team. The Bombers added several tough opponents to this year's calendar and made a brilliant showing against them.

Highlights of the year were the capture of second place in the county tournament and second place in the Spoon River Valley Conference.

The lettermen were: Tommy Garrison, Bill Mercer, Bill Mesick, Milford McRaven, Red Miller, Connie Farr, Maurice Welch, Phil Edie, Charles Kettron, Don Crowe, Chas. Phelps and Stuart Shafer.

G. A. A. CLUB

The Girls Athletic Association which is sponsored by Miss Smith has 82 members. The purpose of this club is to promote good sportsmanship, health, and recreation; to provide opportunities for participation in athletics to any girl who is interested. The club is open to any girl in school who wishes to participate.

The officers of this year's club were: President, Joan Mason; Vice-President, Betty Haulk; Secretary, Iris Van Hooser; Treasurer, Dorothy White.

Every year a girl is elected from each class as class champion. A small gold G. A. A. pin is awarded to each champion. This class champion must fulfill the following requirements. She must be outstanding in sportsmanship; a member in good standing of G. A. A.; and she must participate in all club activities. A girl can be class champion only once.

A cup or trophy is also given each year to the senior girl who has been most outstanding in her four years of G. A. A. The club elects this girl according to the three points above.

The senior girls who have won this honor are Joan Mason, Carol Harland, and Betty Haulk.

The class champions this year were as follows:

G. A. A. CLUB

G. A. A. Championship Cup.....	Joan Mason
Senior Champion.....	Genevieve Carson
Junior Champion.....	June Tolley
Freshman Champion.....	Mary Lou Walker

A senior who has earned 2,000 points and has been a member for four years is awarded the highest state award which is a chenille map of Illinois. Juniors who have earned 1600 points are awarded a chenille "I" and sophomores receive an "M" for 1200 points. Freshman may wear class numerals after earning 600 points.

Each year the club sponsors an intramural softball tournament, a volley ball tournament, and a basketball tournament. This year's softball tournament, managed by Donna Marlowe, was won by the seniors. The volley ball tournament, managed by Barbara Heaton, was won by the Juniors, and the basketball tournament, managed by Carol Harland, was won by the Seniors.

In addition to participating in sports, the club sponsored many social activities. At the first of the year a weiner roast was given for the freshman girls. The G. A. A. sponsored the Homecoming Dance. A bicycle parade was given. In November a scavenger hunt was given in honor of the football players. February 16th the annual Valentine Dance was sponsored by G. A.A. The final big event of the year was the May Festival where the attention was focused on the crowning of the king and queen.

"M" ASSOCI- ATION

The "M" Club consists of members of the Macomb High School that have earned letters in any of the following sports: track, baseball, football, and basketball. The main reasons for having such a club is: to earn money to help pay for injuries that a player might receive and to help pay for sports equipment. The Association earns the money by putting on entertainments for the public. This year the Carnival was a big success. The officers of the club are: President, Bill Mercer; Vice- President, Bob Miller; Secretary Treasurer, Milford McRaven.
